Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

Label each text feature in this nonfiction article.

Teenage Whaler

In 1856, when Daniel Weston Hall was 15 years old, he left New England on the whaling ship Condor. Although he signed on for a three-year voyage, he did not return home for nearly five years.

It took 10 months at sea before the ship caught its first whale off the coast of Siberia in the Arctic Ocean. By then Captain Samuel Whiteside was cantakerous.* The longer it took to find whales, the less money he would earn. He seized Daniel and without any warning, he beat him! Daniel and Elias, another teenager, were terrified of the captain. Once when the boys were play fighting, the captain struck their bare backs with a whip called a cat of nine tails. This cruel pun~~ishment~~

son~~

And~~
was
the
wal
Oud
bec

At Dan
did
For
ope
of b

On~~e~~
with but the wolves stayed at the base of the tree. Two long, cold days passed. Then a bear came along. When the wolves attacked the bear, Daniel climbed down and fled.

In June 1859, Daniel and Elias walked east to the sea, hoping to find work on a ship headed for America. When they reached the coast, they found that Daniel's father had sent men to rescue him. When Daniel arrived home, he published his story.

*always in a bad mood

...st
...k
...ub-
...oil
...he
...c-
...as
as common then as plastic is now.

Want to Know More?

Read Daniel's book, Arctic Rovings, online. It is available from Google Books.

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

Read a nonfiction magazine article. Use it to complete the graphic organizer.

Article title: _____

Author: _____

Publication: _____

Did it Contain...	Yes/No	If Yes, How Did it Help You as a Reader?
a subtitle?
a
a
a c
a a
an explanatory footnote?
a map?
a graph?

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

Label each text feature in this nonfiction article.

Teenage Whaler

In 1856, when Daniel Weston Hall was 15 years old, he left New England on the whaling ship Condor. Although he signed on for a three-year voyage, he did not return home for nearly five years.

It took 10 months at sea before the ship caught its first whale off the coast of Siberia in the Arctic Ocean. By then Captain Samuel Whiteside was cantakerous.* The longer it took to find whales, the less money he would earn. He seized Daniel and without any warning, he beat him! Daniel and Elias, another teenager, were terrified of the captain. Once when the boys were play fighting, the captain struck their bare backs with a whip called a cat of nine tails. This cruel punishment left marks on their bodies.

illustration

but the wolves stayed at the base of the tree. Two long, cold days passed. Then a bear came along. When the wolves attacked the bear, Daniel climbed down and fled.

In June 1859, Daniel and Elias walked east to the sea, hoping to find work on a ship headed for America. When they reached the coast, they found that Daniel's father had sent men to rescue him. When Daniel arrived home, he published his story.

*always in a bad mood

explanatory footnote

sidebar

Want to Know More?

Read Daniel's book, Arctic Rovings, online. It is available from Google Books.

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

Read a nonfiction magazine article. Use it to complete the graphic organizer.

Article title: _____ Answers will vary. _____

Author: _____

Publication: _____

Did it Contain...	Yes/No	If Yes, How Did it Help You as a Reader?
a subtitle?		Answers will vary.
a
a
a c
a a
an explanatory footnote?
a map?
a graph?		