

TEXT FEATURES

Features of a Map

A map is a visual representation of a section of land.

A map has several features to help readers interpret information:

compass: shows the directions north, south, east, and west on a map.

index: tells the location of specific places on a map, such as cities and streets.

What is a caption?

A caption is a short description of a picture.

Captions may inform you of additional details about the photograph.

What is a sidebar?

A sidebar is a story or paragraph that accompanies an article. A sidebar is related to the article in some way.

A sidebar may be found on the side, within, or at the end of an article.

What is fine print?

Fine print is usually associated with advertisements. The fine print of an advertisement is information written in a much smaller font than the rest of the advertisement.

Fine print often includes drawbacks of what is being sold in the advertisement, usually because the advertisers do NOT want you to read this information.

Textbooks

Textbooks are nonfiction books that are written about a particular subject.
