

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1 When you _____, you are saying in your own words what someone else has actually said.

- A classify
- B define
- C infer
- D paraphrase

2 To _____ something is to give meaning to it.

- A classify
- B define
- C infer
- D paraphrase

NEW PATH LEARNING

3 It is important to _____ new vocabulary in a story to help with your comprehension.

4 Sometimes the author does not give the reader all the facts and the reader must _____ what is happening.

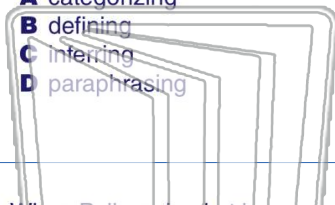

5

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

7 _____

- A categorizing
- B defining
- C inferring
- D paraphrasing

- A true
- B false

NEW PATH LEARNING

9 When Polly arrived at her house, the door opened to friends yelling "Surprise!" She saw the candles glowing on the cake in the dining room, and caught a glimpse of presents on the table.

One can infer that it was Polly's birthday.

- A true
- B false

10 Ian thought that Rita's essay contained too many sentences on the description of the snowy day, so he told her to _____.

- A classify it
- B condense it
- C categorize it
- D paraphrase it

Name _____ Class _____ Date _____

1 When you _____, you are saying in your own words what someone else has actually said.

- A classify
- B define
- C infer
- D paraphrase

2 To _____ something is to give meaning to it.

- A classify
- B define
- C infer
- D paraphrase

3 It is important to _____ new vocabulary in a story to help with your comprehension.

4 Sometimes the author does not give the reader all the facts and the reader must _____ what is happening.

PREVIEW

Please Sign In or Sign Up to download the printable version of this worksheet

7 _____

- A categorizing
- B defining
- C inferring
- D paraphrasing

- A true
- B false

9 When Polly arrived at her house, the door opened to friends yelling "Surprise!" She saw the candles glowing on the cake in the dining room, and caught a glimpse of presents on the table.

One can infer that it was Polly's birthday.

- A true
- B false

10 Ian thought that Rita's essay contained too many sentences on the description of the snowy day, so he told her to _____.

- A classify it
- B condense it
- C categorize it
- D paraphrase it

